GEORGE FRANCIS BROWN WAS ONE OF OGDEN'S PROMINENT CITIZENS

George Francis Brown.

With the passing of George Francis Brown, whose death occurred in Los Angeles, September 23, Ogden loses one of her best known citizens as well as a pioneer in the up-building and development of the city and its surrounding country. No more staunch believer in a prosperous future for Ogden ever walked her streets, and true to the principles of plain reliability which ever marked his course through life, he never allowed an opportunity to pass to sound the advantages of this region and spread the gospel of Ogden's prosperity.

STRANGER HANDS OVER HIS MONEY TO A CLEVER CROOK

Forty-two dollars and seventy-five cents was the price paid by J. Walker, a transient laborer, last Friday for a piece of charred wood 2 x 6, 8 inches long, according to the story which he told to the police. The wood was a "gold brick" and holds a position in the museum of the police department as a relic of the boldest "bunco" game that has been pulled off in Ogden in several years.

Walker came to the police station Friday afternoon carrying a package neatly tied up in white paper and told his story to Chief of Police W. I. Norton and Detective Robert Chambers. He came to Ogden, he said, on Thursday night, with a man with whom he had worked all summer in the Yellowstone park. Friday morning, his friend introduced him to another man, a party of prosperous appearance who purported to be a Nevada ranchman. The three remained together for a time and then Walker's friend from Yellowstone left him and the rancher together.

Being out of work and desirous of getting a position for the winter, Walker asked his new acquaintance what the prospects were of working for him on the ranch. The reply was favorable and the laborer was duly hired and made happy with the thought of being well fixed during the cold season. Shortly after the bargain had been struck, the rancher said he had to go to the freight house to pay for some freight that was to be shipped to his ranch that night. Walker accompanied him and waited outside the office while the man went inside, presumably to transact business.

When the rancher came out again, he held in his hand a piece of paper, having the appearance of a check, and his first words to Walker were that the check had been refused and that he would have to go to the bank and get it cashed. Then he happened to think that, if he went to the bank, he would be too late to get the freight off for Nevada that night. After cogitating for a moment he asked Walker for the loan of enough money to add to his ready cash to pay the freight bill, saying that he would then go to the bank and repay the loan. The necessary amount, $42.75, was handed over by Walker and the rancher started for the freight office. Just before reaching the door, he turned to Walker and handed him a package which he had been carrying, saying: "This is too valuable to send home by freight, hold it until I come out again."

That was the last seen of the rancher and Walker, after patiently holding the package for nearly an hour, searched the freight house in vain for its former owner and then went to the police station. The advice he got from Detective Chambers was:

"If another man ever hires you and then tries to borrow your money, hit him in the eye and called for the wagon."

CLAIMS AGAINST THE CITY HAVE BEEN REJECTED

City Attorney Valentine Gideon this morning advised the city board of commissioners that he considers the city is in no way liable or responsible for the accident which occurred to Samuel and Rose Blair in Ogden canyon a short time ago, and that their claim for damages in the sum of $7000 should be not allowed. The attorney's report was adopted and the recorder instructed to advise the parties of the action.

Mr. Gideon also instructed the board that the claim of M. H. Wheelwright for a refund of $28.70 for erroneous taxation is unlawful at this late date, and that, should the account be declared legal, the amount could not be drawn from the general fund in settlement. A special fund from which the amount might be paid has been exhausted. This report was also adopted.

EXPLORING FOR WATER IN PLAIN CITY DISTRICT

At a depth of about 20 feet, in the experimental pumping well on the farm of County Assessor J. L. Robson in Plain City, about eight feet of water has been encountered. At this point digging has been postponed until after the harvest season and until new pumping apparatus can be installed.

The pump in use was inadequate to handle the water as it accumulated, which prevented excavating. The well is about 8 feet in diameter. By reaching a depth of 40 or 50 feet, enough water should be found to furnish a fairly good irrigation stream.

As soon as the sugar beets have been harvested, and other crops have been taken care of, the well will be sunk to greater depth and work will be continued as long as weather conditions will permit, or until sufficient depth has been obtained. The well is cased with concrete staves, such as are used in building silo plants. It is expected that the experiment will disclose that there is ample water near the surface in the Plain City district to irrigate a large acreage of land, and that the pumping of the water will be cheap enough to justify the undertaking.

Last time tonight at the Alhambra, "The Ordeal" and "Neal of the Navy."

LECTURE COURSE OF WEBER ACADEMY ANNOUNCED

At the assembly this morning at the Weber academy, a general announcement of the completion of arrangements for the annual lecture course was made. The course has been shortened this year, but the attractions were announced as being of an unusually high class.

The first one will be Ralph Parlette who will lecture at the academy on the night of October 7. He is known as "The Humorist who helps humanity," and is the editor of "The Lyceum Magazine," the magazine of the Lyceum and Chautauqua movement.

On November 6, the lecture committee will present the Cavaliers, a company of seven grand opera and oratorio singers, four men and three women. The company is a Redpath Lyceum bureau attraction and comes highly recommended.

Dr. Albert Wigman will furnish the third number on the program, giving a lecture on "Heredity and Eugenics," subjects of which he has a mastery.

For the fourth attraction, the committee has engaged the William Owen Dramatic company for a production of Charles Rann Kennedy's drama, "The Servant in the House." This is to be presented at the Orpheum theatre some time in February, under the auspices of the academy.

A part of the general announcement that was received with special favor by the students this morning was that Moroni Olsen, the Ogden reader, who recently entered upon his professional career as a dramatic reader on an eastern Lyceum circuit, has been engaged as the fifth and final attraction.

Mr. Olsen's date is March 3, and he will read one of the books that he has prepared to present on his eastern tour.

TURKS RETREAT BEFORE BRITISH

Important Success Won in Mesopotamia—Moslems Are Fleeing Toward Bagdad.

London, Sept. 29, 2:28 p. m.—The British have won an important success in Mesopotamia. The Turks are in full retreat toward Bagdad.

The British are pursuing the retreating Turks.

Announcement to this effect was made in the house of commons today by Austen Chamberlain, secretary of state for India.

General Nixon reported that one position carried by the British constituted a long line of defenses astride the Tigris river. At a point seven miles east of Kut, two bridges cross the river from the right bank and by a forced march the British reached the left wing of the Turkish position, carrying it by assault. By nightfall the whole position had been carried.

Turkish Losses Severe.

The Turkish losses in dead are described as very severe. The Turks clung to their trenches with the greatest tenacity and they were filled with corpses when the British finally carried them. A number of guns, many rifles, several hundred prisoners and a quantity of ammunition was captured.

General Nixon gives the British casualties as "under five hundred."

A second despatch from General Nixon says:

"The enemy's position in advance of Kut-El-Amara was captured, with many prisoners and guns. The enemy is in full flight toward Bagdad. Our forces are pushing in pursuit. Details will follow."

Last time tonight, "The Ordeal" and "Neal of the Navy," at the Alhambra. Don't miss this fine program.

CEYLON ISLAND IN REBELLION

Berlin, Sept. 29, by wireless to Tuckerton, N. J.—Private reports from the British island of Ceylon, says the Overseas News agency, "are to the effect that the entire island has been in a state of rebellion since June and that all the tea plantations on the island have been destroyed, more than 2000 persons having been shot during the rioting."

"At Colombo the struggle was a terrific one, street fighting taking place and shops being ransacked, the reports declare. The damage done amounted to more than 10,000,000 marks ($2,500,000). Sixty persons were shot there and 1800 arrests were made."

"The Monsoon was the worst the island had experienced in 100 years and superstitious Mohammedans regarded its severity as a punishment by Allah. A comet also has been seen."

"The English press," says the news agency, "has been informed that the disturbances had no unusual significance."
